Dental Discovery.
DR. JOHN H. KIMBALL has fitted up a suit of elegant rooms, including a first-class labratory, at No. 58 Main street, where he will perform operations of all kinds known to dental science. Teeth filled with gold, silver and other pure metals in the most approved style. Extractions done scientifically, and ether and gas administered when desired. His mechanical departments cannot be excelled. A new and most important discovery has recently been made in his labratory, whereby rubber plates can be effectually plated with gold, making them exceedingly beautiful and entirely obviating the unpleasant odor and disagreeable taste of the rubber and making it practically a PLATE OF GOLD. Call and be convinced.

DURING THE LATE WAR
The Government made its Best Arms at Springfield, Mass.,—What Mr. David Clark, Inspector U. S. Armory There Recommends.
Your reporter found Inspector Clark at his office on the Armory grounds busily examining "receivers" for the regulation army rifles. However, he was as willing to say a word for the merits of health and strength restoratives as to prove the merits of implements of death. He said: "My business keeps me closely confined to the Armory and in doors. As a result, I've suffered considerably from indigestion and biliousness, but I find that Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is a most excellent medicine for these complaints. I most cordially recommend it, for I am acquainted with its worth. Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is used a great deal by the machinists in the U. S. Armory here."
While FAVORITE REMEDY is a specific in Kidney and Bladder diseases, it is equally valuable in case of Bilious Disorders and Constipation of the Bowels. Try it. Your druggist has it, and its cost is only one dollar a bottle. The lucky man is he who puts this advice in practice. Don't forget the name and address, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. The Doctor would have it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine, FAVORITE REMEDY he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to office practice. He treats all diseases and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery.

MRS. LANGTRY'S PICTURES.

WHAT THE PHOTOGRAPHERS SAY OF HER.

The artist in Sarony's photograph gallery was drawing down the blue curtains over the skylight and making other changes preparatory to closing the gallery on Saturday afternoon, when a reporter, who had finally reached the attic floor after a long struggle in a diminutive elevator run by a diminutive boy, opened the door to the gallery and asked, "Is Mr. Richardson in?"

"That's my name," came in response from behind a view of the Palisades. In a second or two Sarony's chief operator and artist stepped out from behind the Palisades lacking his coat and waistcoat, but his head covered with a soft felt hat. He was evidently getting ready to go home. The clock in the steeple had just struck four. The artist leaned against the Palisades and metaphorically invited the reporter to come on. And he did.

"You have been taking Mrs. Langtry's picture, have you not?" the reporter began.

"Yes," replied the artist, deserting the Palisades and tucking both thumbs under his shoulder braces. "I should say I had," he continued. "I have made forty negatives of her. She is coming again next week. She liked the last pictures very much. Some of the first ones didn't take with her as well. Twice she came here only with her maid. Mr. Abbey came with her the last time."

"Did she talk very much while here, either commenting on the gallery or making suggestions as to her pictures?"

"Oh, bless you, no. We cracked her right through, so that she didn't get any time for that. Forty negatives in an hour and a half is pretty quick work, let me tell you. It was hurry-scurry all the time. Oh, we rattled her right along."

"Did you have any extra help in the gallery?"

"Well, no. There were five of us, including Mr. Sarony, who posed her. Things flew, I tell you."

"You have seen a good many beautiful women in your day on account of your business. Now, do you think she is beautiful?"

"She is a high-cheek-boned woman! Is that beauty?"

"Then you don't think she is the most beautiful woman that ever had her picture taken here?"

"What!" he replied, snapping his braces against his shoulders, "why, not much. Ten years ago, when Fanny Davenport was in her prime, she was much more beautiful than Mrs. Langtry. There was something grand and majestic and beautiful about her. She couldn't be beaten. She is the most beautiful woman ever photographed. Mrs. Langtry is what I call charming, but not beautiful; oh, no."

"Did Mrs. Langtry say in regard to the pictures you made of her, as she is reported to have said,

"They make me pretty; I'm beautiful.'"

"Great Scott! where did you get that?"

"Never mind that; did she say so?"

"I believe she did," the artist replied. Evidently thinking that the conversation was going altogether too far he promptly said: Have you seen Mr. Sarony? You ought to see him: he's a character."

The reporter descended by the same slow elevator and hurried to Mr. Sarony's house. The porter met the reporter at the door, and remarked in dulcet tones: Mr. Sarony is not in, but will be in a minute. Take a seat inside."

In a moment or two the front door opened and in walked Napoleon Sarony. Mr. Sarony is a Frenchman, not a bit over five feet in height, if he is as much as that. He was clad in an ulster which reached the floor and made him look even smaller than he really is. He has an extremely heavy mustache and goatee. In conversation he is lively and quick, and emphasizes his remarks in the characteristically French way by frequent and rapid gestures, shrugging of the shoulders, and spasmodic movements of the legs.

"I've come to see you," the reporter began, "about some pictures—"

"Oh, certainly," replied Mr. Sarony, thinking he had fallen in with a customer, "you want to sit for a picture?"

"No, I want—"

"Oh, yes, come around to the gallery Monday and have a—"

"You misunderstand me," the reporter replied, managing to slide in a word occasionally. "I've come to see you about Mrs. Langtry's photographs; I am a reporter."

"Oh," said Mr. Sarony.

"What success did you have?"

"Well, I took her in fifty or sixty positions in 'As You Like It' and in private; it seems the most popular theatrical ever published—dress it up as you like, you know," replied Mr. Sarony, keeping both hands in the air and beating time with his feet.

"How did Mrs. Langtry like the pictures?"

"Oh, much," said Mr. Sarony, sweeping his right arm through the air as though he were mowing grass; "much, much; you notice the difference between my pictures and the London photographs of her; mine are light and spirited, more spirituel, better idea of her altogether."

"Is the demand for them very great?"

"Got an order from Paris for 500; must supply this country first; then we'll talk about France," Mr. Sarony replied, tapping the reporter as though he was a front door without a door bell.

"Well now, Mr. Sarony, what do you think of Mrs. Langtry as a beauty?"

"Well," said the photographer, describing parabolas, elipses and circles with both hands; "she has a fine figure, good height, head is well balanced, good features and good expression—when she pleases. (Don't put that in.)"

"Do you think you have done her justice in your pictures?"

"Oh, y-e-s. But I think the finest pictures of her are to come, when she comes in with those fine low-neck dresses that will show her figure."

"What view of her face do you prefer?"

"She likes the full face; I like her profile better."

"What did she say about the pictures?"

"In speaking of the first portrait," said Mr. Sarony, "she quoted Oscar Wilde, saying, 'You've made me pretty; I'm beautiful.'"

"And your impression of Mrs. Langtry was what?"

"Well," said Mr. Sarony, seating himself in a chair and kicking his heels up in the air, "she wasn't in her best mood last Sunday. The Sunday newspapers made it lively for her—my gracious, don't put that in."

"Do you think she is the prettiest or most beautiful woman you ever photographed?"

Mr. Sarony shrugged his shoulders, ducked his head and skipped across the room as though he had been fired out of a cannon. Returning to the vicinity of the reporter he threw back his coat, crammed both hands into his trousers' pockets and replied, with an audible grin: "Oh, no. (But don't put that in. I expect her again next week, and ——.") Here Mr. Sarony gyrated, spun around on tip-toe and worked both arms as though they were pump handles.

"Who is the most beautiful woman you ever photographed?"

"Well, Fanny Davenport takes well; and so does little Branscombe. (Leave that out; Mrs. Langtry will be offended to be classed with them)," he smilingly replied, nudging the reporter in the ribs and dancing an abbreviated ballet.

"Then you do not pronounce her a supreme beauty?"

"No; no, no. Oh no. She is affable, pleasant and charming—but I must go to dinner! Come into the gallery some time and I'll chop your head [meaning a vignette.] What do you want, a Grecian or a Roman nose?"

"Grecian," said the reporter.

"All right; come in and we'll do you good. Good by!" And Napoleon Sarony was hustled up stairs in an elevator, which, in comparison with the one in his gallery, went like lightning.

Sarony has the sole right, by purchase, to print Mrs. Langtry's photographs. The demand for them is far ahead of the supply, and he says that he has orders now which will take three months to fill. In his own words, "There never was anything like it.'"

NEW MAGAZINES.

The December WIDE AWAKE is the holiday issue, and is perhaps the largest and finest single number of a young folks' magazine ever published; it appeared in a beautiful cover printed in colors, and its page of contents gives a tempting array of titles, and an impressive list of authors. Two frontispieces open the number: Lost on the way to Grandpa's, by George F. Barnes, and The Mother and the Child, from Bourgereau's painting, with a border designed by E H Garrett, and illustrating Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney's poem with the same title. Mrs. Whitney's poem is followed by one from Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, The Little Mud Sparrows. Celia Thaxter and Helen Hunt are also represented by poems with very beautiful illustrations. Farther on is an illustrated group of poems contributed by English poets: A Christmas Carol, by Christina Rosetti, Wings, by Dinah Mulock Craik, The Conquest of Fairyland, by A. Mary F. Robinson, and Garden Fairies, by Philip Bourke Marston. There is also a Russian Folk-Lore Ballad, by Mrs. Craigin, with seventeen illustrations by Miss McDermott. Two serials are begun: The Silver City, by Fred A. Ober, which promises to be a realistic romance of the best sort, and Old Caravan Days, by Mrs. Catherwood, a story of the old Turnpike times and the white tent-wagons. Mrs. Diaz also begins an amusing series, The John Spicer Lectures. Besides Mr. Gilman's Dictionary paper, and Mr. Hale's To-day paper, there are two delightful and very pictorial articles: Our Dogs at Eversley, in which Rose Kingsley, the daughter of Charles Kingsley, gives amusing reminiscences of her father's famous dogs, and Old Fashioned Cookery, by Luthera Whitney, with twelve drawings. After this the number is crammed like a pudding with plums, with sparkling short stories from the best story writers in America; there is A Case of Coincidence, by Rose Terry Cooke, and Dolly's Christmas Kettledrum, by Nora Perry, and Nelly's Heroics, by Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, and How Sin Hop went Ashore, by John Coryell, and Two Modern Little Princes, by Margaret Sidney, and The Isle of Peace, by Eliot McCormick, A Fortunate Misfortune, by Susan Coolidge, etc., etc. One hundred and fifty original engravings illuminate the number, which will be long remembered and long preserved.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

Rose Brown, of Lewiston, a mill operative, broke a leg by a mis-step while entering the mill, Saturday.

The Journal says: Mr. J. M. Wagg, of Auburn, who has been at work in the Auburn tannery for over twenty years, while trimming hides last Friday, poisoned a finger of his left hand. The finger is in a bad condition, and is in some danger of amputation.

There was suppressed emotion in an Auburn church, Sunday, when an elderly lady of fertile immagination, shivering with the cold, walked up the aisle, stopped over a cold-air ventilating register for several minutes, then seated herself with the air of a lady who was warm and comfortable.

Cumberland.

The Portland Press prints a lengthy dispatch dated Greene, which alleges that Willis Ward, who was found dead and mutilated, the 12th inst., at the railroad crossing near the Greene station, was murdered.

Last Thursday morning, a German hawker, in Sebago, entered the house of Ivory G. Cole, who was sick, and failing to dispose of any of his wares, decided to increase his stock in trade by appropriating a pile of stockings that lay upon the table. He dropped a portion of them on his way to his cart, but made off with nine pairs of stockings, and Mr. Cole's mother, a spunky old lady of seventy-six years, put after him on foot, and followed him to "Mud City," five miles, where she committed her case to E. L. Poor, Esq., and after partaking of lunch, started for home again by the same conveyance, so that she might be in season to help her daughter-in-law to get the supper for their thirty railroad boarders and look after the baby and her (the old lady's) husband, who is bed-ridden and helplessly insane. Poor followed the peddler to East Sebago, where he overtook him and persuaded him to disgorge, and after giving him some wholesome advice, let him off with the lawyer's usual fee.

The Portland Press says: Monday forenoon, Mr. G. Edwin Dyer, who has a clothing store at 375 Fore street, observed a young woman acting in a suspicious manner about some clothing displayed in front of his store. She pretended to be examining the goods but was in reality trying to find something not well secured. Finally she pulled sharply at a pair of trousers, broke the string by which they were suspended and hastily concealing them underneath her shawl started on a run, pursued by Mr. Dyer, who cried "stop thief" lustily. As he was unable to leave his store for any extended pursuit, the thieving female got away with the booty. The police learned, however, of her visiting an establishment in the afternoon and attempting to sell the clothing, and as her name and residence are known, her arrest was made in the evening by Officer Harmon. Her name is Kate Farrel.

Franklin.

The Times says that George Delano, a native of Carthage, was at work ballasting the ship of W. F. Babcock, at Sewall's yard, Bath, Monday morning, when a wheelbarrow load of heavy stone was accidentally overturned from the side, striking him upon the head. The stone fell a distance of about eighteen feet. Severe gashes were made upon his head, above his forehead and near his eye.

Kennebec.

The members of the Richards Light Infantry, of Gardiner, will have a rifle match and glass ball shoot at what is known as Copsecook Grove, near the New Mills, on Thanksgiving Day.

The Journal says that a case of considerable importance was commenced before Judge Peters, Judge Baker, of Hallowell, and Col. J. W. Spaulding, of Richmond, at the Evans Hotel last week. The case was that between the estate of Abram Rich vs. Kennebec Log Driving Company, for damages on the Brown Island Boom. At the conclusion of the evidence the case was adjourned and the arguments will take place in Augusta, and a verdict rendered some time this week. The referees paid a visit to the locality, and viewed the premises.

The Journal says: An important case was begun at the Court House, Augusta, Monday morning, before Judges Peters and Libby and Joel W. Taylor, Esq. The case in hearing is where on the afternoon of Oct. 11th, 1881, an express team belonging to the Insane Hospital had been left unhitched at the freight depot in this city, while the driver was loading some freight, when the horse suddenly started and dashed down Bridge street, and into Kennebec bridge, dragging a part of the express wagon with him. About midway of the bridge he struck the team containing Mrs. Seth H. Moody and Mrs. Freeman Carey, who live in the eastern part of Augusta, and both ladies were thrown out, and, as is claimed, were severely injured. This reference is arranged by the plaintiffs and the trustees of the Hospital to ascertain the amount of damages in each case. Orville D. Baker and L. C. Cornish appear for the plaintiffs and H. M. Heath, Esq. for the Hospital.

Sagadahoc.

The Times says: Israel Cox, a workman in the Bath shipyards, was shot in the right thigh below the hip at about ten o'clock Saturday evening, by Nathaniel Stevens, for many years the engineer at Goss & Sawyer's steam mill. The case seems to be nothing else than the sad result, of an explicable and criminal careless handling of a revolver.

York.

Geo. Knight, aged 13 years, of South Berwick, jumped from a freight train near the eastern Station, at Salmon Falls, Sunday noon, and was thrown under the wheels, sustaining injuries from which he died.

Mr. Calvin Remick was found dead beside the road, in Eliot, Sunday morning. He, in company with others had been serenading a newly married couple, Saturday night, and had become intoxicated. It is not known whether he died from the effects of drink or was foully dealt with. He was 33 years of age.

THURSDAY, NOV. 30, 1882.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

There is abundant reason this year for the observance of the time-honored custom of public and private Thanksgiving for the bounties and the mercies enjoyed by us in the Nation, in the State and in the community. For generous harvests, for freedom from pestilence, for prevailing prosperity and a wider diffusion of comforts among the toiling millions, the people of this happy and favored land have cause to render devout thanks to the Almighty Father, and to invoke a continuance of His loving kindness.

Thanksgiving and generosity should go hand in hand, and on this day especially those who have been blessed with abundance should share it with their less amply provided neighbors, so that every household shall have a liberal portion of Thanksgiving cheer.

May there be many happy reunions around family firesides throughout the homes of our land to-day, and where there are vacant chairs and beloved voices are missed from the circle, may the reverent faith that established this New England festival furnish the sweetest balm for sorrow, and the surest promise of meeting again the loved ones who have gone before.

THE REFORM SCHOOL.

The three Commissioners appointed by Governor Plaisted to investigate the Reform School have seemingly been unable to agree fully in the presentation of the conclusions they have drawn and the theories they entertain in relation to the purpose, functions and management of the Reform School, and each of the three gentlemen has submitted an elaborate, individual report over his own signature. The three reports occupy nearly five columns of solid type in the Portland Press, and they all attest the excellent general condition of the establishment, that "the building is very neatly kept; the school room "in good order, the clothing of suitable "warmth," "the clothing, beds and bedding clean, whole and comfortable," "the building is well-warmed, lighted and "ventilated," "cleanliness and good care "of the inmates and property everywhere "were apparent," the "food good and "wholesome, generally well cooked and "sufficient in quantity of certain kinds, and "the countenances and physique of the "boys bore witness of strength and good "health," and "kind attention, good care, "medical advice and nursing have been "rendered the sick and suffering by the "present Superintendent, and officers."

The foregoing, made up of literal citations from the text of each of the three reports of the gentlemen selected by Governor Plaisted to conduct an investigation of the Reform School, certainly do not bear much resemblance to or furnish confirmation of his reckless and sensational charges which represented the institution as a sink of rottenness and a hell upon earth, and denounced its officials as worse than barbarians. This testimony of all three of the Commissioners also shows the outrage that has been perpetrated upon the reputation of our State by the unscrupulously distorted reports that have been sent abroad portraying the Maine Reform School as a combination of the horrors of Andersonville and the Black Hole of Calcutta.

The strictures of the three reports are directed at what they believe to be errors of our reformatory system for which the management of the school is in no sense responsible, and at some of the punishments that have been inflicted. The only case, however, cited by either of them as an instance of "barbarity," is that of an inmate who was made to stand up all night for fighting, by an officer who was dismissed therefor by the Superintendent. They express strong disapproval of the punishment by confinement in the tower or cell, and if the evidence showed a deprivation of water needed for cleanliness, or an improper condition of the place of confinement, the objection is well founded. But temporary confinement with a diet of bread and water is not considered inhuman or unjustifiable punishment in any civilized country, and even the future generals of our armies at West Point are locked up in a "cell" when milder means of restraint prove inadequate. We do not approve of the cell at the Military Academy because we think that young men who will not behave without such punishment had better be dismissed and sent home, but that cannot be done in the case of inmates of the Reform School, sent there, as Commissioner Haskell says, "guilty of all "grades of crime and misdemeanor." With regard to the feruling upon the hand or posterior, Commissioner Gould says: "We do not find any bad results arising "from this ancient and scriptural practice." The attaching of a heavy iron clog to the ankle of a boy who was a confirmed runaway is strongly condemned, but there is no statement that any physical injury was caused, and the criticism made is that the prisoner could have been remanded to State Prison. The expediency and benefit of some of the minor punishments are questioned, and stress is laid upon the argument that the School should be a reformatory and not a prison. Of course that brings up the fact that for years it has been used for the confinement of youthful criminals of the most depraved type, and Mr. Gould says:

"If the school is to be a prison, then public criticism must not complain when the average prison discipline is maintained. If on the other hand we are to have a reform school then prison methods should not be employed; and again, if both ideas must be embraced, then there should be an absolute separation of the inmates according to crime and behavior; a separation so distinct and so absolute that the methods to be employed in either case are not to be used in the other; and so exclusive that no contamination can come from the lower to the higher class."

This discussion of the proper functions of the School and of the policy of the State in regard to it forms quite a large portion of the three reports, and the suggestions contained are entitled to consideration. The raising of this question, however, as to the intention and desire of the State in regard to the field to be occupied by the Reform School and the discipline to be maintained, immediately suggests that the whole matter is a proper subject for the consideration of the law-making power that created the institution, and it seems to us that the Executive Council may very properly refer the reports and the entire subject to the Legislature shortly to assemble, for thorough investigation by that body and such action as may be found desirable.

EARLY FRUITS OF THE REDUCTION OF THE HAY TARIFF.

Any citizens who have been inclined to regard the reduction of the duty on imported hay as a matter of no great consequence, will find some practical evidence of their mistake in the extensive claims now being pressed against the United States Government by Canadians for recovery of ten per cent. of the duty paid by them upon their hay imported into this country. The following editorial article from a recent issue of a prominent New Brunswick paper, indicates the vigor with which these claims are being and will be urged, and the figures given will be very suggestive to the farmers of Maine of the vast amount of Canadian hay that has been thrown into our markets to compete with our own producers, even when the tariff was twenty per cent. ad valorem.

The News is in error in regard to the details of the reduction. The decision was not made by the U. S. Supreme Court, but by the U. S. Circuit Court for the Northern District of New York, and reversed the previous constructions of the Treasury Department by declaring that hay is an unmanufactured article, and as such comes under the ten per cent. schedule of the tariff. It is obvious that the intent of Congress all these fourteen years past has been to maintain a duty of twenty per cent. upon imported hay, and the technical construction of the law should have been corrected at the last session but for the stubborn opposition of the Democratic members.

We quote the following article to show the extensive character of the Provincial competition with our hay producers and the interest that is felt in Canada on the subject.

[From the St. John (N. B.) Daily News.]

HAY CLAIMS ON UNCLE SAM.

Some pretty stiff hay claims are being pressed against the United States treasury. The Treasury officials have been levying a duty of twenty per cent on Canadian hay imported into the United States. They had no right under the Washington Treaty to collect more than a ten per cent. duty on such dried grass. An appeal on the subject was carried to the United States Supreme Court, and that high and honored tribunal decided that only an ad valorem duty of ten per cent was collectable. Canadian hay exporters in the Upper Provinces are bestirring themselves to recover the excess of duty unlawfully wrung from them. A million dollar claim for repayment is to be pressed against Uncle Sam from the Province of Quebec. If it is a well founded one, we trust it will be promptly satisfied. Have New Brunswick hay exporters across the boundary no payments to demand from the United States Treasury? If they have they should push matters.

The Boston Journal states that a Canadian banker says that about $40,000 have been remitted, through his efforts, to hay shippers by the United States Government, as reimbursements on customs duties overcharged on hay shipped across the lines, since 1880, and he asserts that $1,000,000 will eventually be forked over by Uncle Sam to the Canucks.

It is to be hoped the United States Government will do the right thing in this case in a prompt and manly manner. Mistakes are liable to happen. Prompt rectification on discovery redeems them. We trust no exaggerated, no fraudulent demands will be preferred from Canada, and that no quirks, quibbles, or dilatory tactics be resorted to by the Washington authorities to stave off honest demands. There is a surplus in the Treasury vaults. Let it be drawn upon to meet just Canadian hay claims.

FACTS ABOUT TARIFFS.

[Boston Journal.]

The pamphlet recently placed before the Tariff Commission, by the Metropolitan Industrial League, contains a large and valuable fund of information bearing upon the tariff question. The pamphlet contains the recommendations and suggestions of leading manufacturers, in the different branches of production, and the statements of Chas. S. Hill, the experienced and competent statistician of the State Department to the Tariff Commission, based upon the reports and suggestions collected by the League. Mr. Hill is specially prepared for this work, because, during the past five years, he has collated the tariff of every country, analyzing and comparing them with our own. At the outset Mr. Hill says that our tariff is far from being the worst extant. This will strike those who have always been confronted with the assertion that our tariff is ambiguous as a remarkable statement.

Another impression which one receives from the free trade press is that the world is tending toward free trade. This Mr. Hill shows to be false. Of twenty-five nations named, only Great Britain and the Netherlands have tax systems based upon the theory of tariffs for revenue only. All other nations have tariffs based upon the theory of protection. British trade associations and their allies in this country constantly represent that the tariff of the United States is the highest in the world. The comparisons which Mr. Hill makes shows the falsity of this reiterated assertion. Take sugar, upon which our Government collects the largest amount of money that is obtained by the tariff. The duty in this country averages $2 87 per hundred weight. Great Britain admits sugar free, but the duty in every other nation in Europe is higher, ranging from an average of $2 87 per hundred weight in Germany to $4 50 and $5 in France and $10 in Austria for the protection of the sugar beet industry. Our tariff on woolens is not much above the average, while the duty on iron, which is so much denounced, next to France (Great Britain excepted,) is the lowest of the leading nations. On cottons our duty is about the lowest.

The Washington Post recently stated, and the Globe repeated the statement, that the tariff as it now exists imposes its burdens upon those who are called the poor classes. The statistics which Mr. Hill presents refute this assertion. The average duty imposed by the present tariff is 44 per cent. ad valorem. The duty on liquors is 71 per cent.; on tobacco, 72 per cent.; on silks, 59 per cent.; on woolen goods, where the duty is much higher on the finer grades than the more common, 60 per cent. On cotton goods, provisions, earthern war, metals and sundries, the duties are below the average. The only article of prime necessity upon which the duty is above the average is sugar, which the Republicans in the Senate attempted, at the late session, to reduce.

Mr. Hill marshals statistics to prove the benefits of the protective tariff system in the most effective manner. Not only have the value of manufactures increased from $1,019,000,000 in 1850 to $8,000,000,000 in 1882, but the value of agricultural products has increased in a still more marvelous manner—the value thereof in 1870 being $2,232,000,000 and $7,500,000,000 in 1882, the latter figures being $1,500,000,000 less than the estimate of Commissioner Loring. Of our large volume of manufactures, all except 2 per cent. are consumed at home, and of the products of agriculture only 8 per cent. are exported. This marvelous growth in thirty years and the prosperity which enabled our people to be such unparalled consumers of the products of capital and labor, Mr. Hill, as a statistician, attributes to our much-abused protective tariff. The more important of these statistics given are made more emphatic by diagrams. The most striking of these diagrams is that illustrating the conditions of labor and living in the different countries.

This diagram is based upon statistics. It shows first, all things considered, that the wages in this country received by all labor are double those paid in Great Britain; that labor in this country pays a smaller ratio of its wages for subsistence than in England; that the standard of living of laborers in this country is above that of England in the ratio of 3 to 1, and of thrift and savings in the ratio of 9 to 5. Another diagram, designed to show the importance of a tariff system that will protect our manufacturing interests against the cheap capital of Europe is that showing the rates of interest here and abroad for the past thirty-five years. In Great Britain capital is worth 3 9 per cent.; in France 4.15 per cent., in Germany 4 45 per cent., in the Eastern States 5 8 per cent., in the Southern States 8 per cent., in the Western States 12 per cent. Under a free trade policy the Eastern States might struggle on with the 2 per cent. more interest than is paid in England, but the growing manufacturing enterprises of the South and West would go to the wall in the unequal contest.

MR. RANDALL'S STRADDLE.

[From the Philadelphia Inquirer, (Rep.)]

Mr. Randall has lost, instead of gaining, by his disavowal of orthodox protective sentiments. His Protectionist friends are cooling, and his Free Trade adversaries are as bitter as ever. Policy and patriotism both demand that Randall, and not Carlisle, shall be the next Speaker, but the former has weakened his chances by descending from the straight-out Protectionist position he was formerly supposed to occupy.

The New York Tribune is very confident that General Butler is training for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency in 1884. He will, it predicts, use the office of Governor as a way to attract public attention. "His light," it adds, "will not be concealed under a bushel during the next year. There will be frequent proclamations from the house-tops, and if the Democracy is looking around for a reformer for a candidate in 1884 it will have hard work to turn in any direction without stumbling over Benjamin F. Butler. He is likely to answer 'Here!' a minute or so before his name is called."

The decision of the Government to press the election trials in South Carolina is met with renewed evidence that the people in that neighborhood are determined to resist all attempts to right these wrongs. The Charleston News says that public opinion is against the trials and that nothing can be made out of them. It wants to see the whole responsibility for elections surrendered to the State governments and promises that then "in a very short time there would be an end to all this talk about election offences in the South." Undoubtedly. But fortunately the sentiment of the country is against permitting the bulldozers and ballot-box stuffers to control Presidential and Congressional elections at their pleasure.

Senator Frye, in reply to a request from the Boston Herald, says: "For years suspicions as to the integrity of the star route expenditures have existed. Leading Republicans urged upon President Garfield and Postmaster General James the necessity of a thorough investigation. It was had and, these prosecutions are the result. The duty and responsibility are no longer political, but rest upon the courts. Both accuser and accused are entitled to thorough, fair and impartial trials, and, if a Republican President knows of any hindrance to these, he should promptly remove them, if in his power. The interests of the government, the people and the Republican party are now identical."

Senator Butler, of South Carolina, it is reported, will be chosen as his own successor. There were rumors some months ago that he intended to retire at the close of his present term, but they were probably erroneous. The Senatorship attracted no attention in the State during the recent canvass and, so far as known, the Legislature is untrammelled with pledges. No rival of Mr. Butler has appeared in the field.

The official count in South Carolina only allows the anti-Bourbon candidate for Governor 17,719 votes. The same count shows that the anti-Bourbon candidates for Congress received a little over 60,000. What became of the other 33,000 ballots which were undoubtedly cast for Governor, is a mystery which J. Hendrix McLane, the Independant candidate for that place would like to have solved. The Democratic candidate did not get them as his vote exceeds that cast for his party's Congressional candidates by less than 6,000. And there was not enough opposition to Mr. McLane among the Independents to account for the loss of the other 27,000 votes.

Black Diamond Wedge Axes.

TO LUMBERMEN AND WOOD CHOPPERS.

We are now manufacturing AXES FROM BLACK DIAMOND STEEL and BEST NORWAY IRON expressly for choppers. They are HAND HAMMERED and CHARCOAL TEMPERED and we pare no expense to have them perfect.

If, with good stock, a good Axe can be made, by a man who has made Axes all his business life, this must be a good one. Any reasonable man knows that it is impossible to make a first-class Axe at the low price factory Axes are now sold. Some few in a lot may prove good, but they are made under a trip hammer with great haste, tempered with common blacksmith's coal which gives a very uneven heat and necessarily many of them must prove poor.

We simply ask for the BLACK DIAMOND AXE a sample order, knowing that they will show and prove all we claim for them.

Prices furnished on application.

We keep in stock leading brands of factory Axes at lowest prices.

NEGLECT.

Neglect to provide for one's family during life is a social offence not easily condoned by friends and relatives. That man is a coward who thinks that after death the grave will hide a like neglect. It is ghastly mockery to make no provision, mental and physical, to support his dependent wife and children. It is the coward who leaves them in the same condition at his death. The one is a subject of contempt; the other is a despicable failure.—Exchange.

Hot Sturdy Farmers, one and all,
With wives and daughters fair,
We're driving Sunday to the wall—
Will you the glory share?

This age of shams in which we slay,
Should undergo repair;
For but cull one in eye-straw hay,
No righteous judgment spare.

We'll patronize the honest men,
Who deal upon the square—
Buy once, twice, thrice, and buy again,
Each other's burdens bear.

Let shoddy dealers hide their names,
And for a flight prepare—
"Telling the truth the devil shames,"
May we the devil dare.

Hot farmers, toiling hard to live,
Content with rugged fare,
Good wheat for chaff you needn't give,
And we will tell you where—

The American Stamp Act

Made George Washington, John Hancock, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and some more of the boys so horrid mad with John Bull that they went right to work and got up a little war about it, until they had things their own way. The Stamp Act of the manufacturers of the celebrated makes some of the shoe dealers just as mad as "Jawge" and the rest of the boys were, and they would like to get up a war about it, and have things their own way, but in the language of the lamented Artemas "it cannot was," for the name is copyrighted, and we have the exclusive agency for the goods, and we will shed every drop of ink in our veins advising you of that fact and that the genuine article has the name stamped on the inside.

Insurance Notice.

In compliance with peremptory instructions from the several Insurance Companies represented by us, an increase in the rates of premium has been made and will govern us, on and after Dec. 1, in issuing policies. This advance is simultaneous throughout the country, is very moderate, and in view of the disastrous results of the fire insurance business during the last two years, is found to be absolutely indispensable to enable the Companies to promptly meet their consequents. TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

MURDER AND SUICIDE IN NORTH NEWPORT.

NO CAUSE ASSIGNED FOR THE FEARFUL DEED.

A Young Man Shoots a Young Lady and then Kills Himself

CORINNA, Nov 29 About five o'clock this afternoon the inhabitants of North Newport were startled by hearing three pistol shots in rapid succession and shortly after a horse and carriage ran into the door yard of John Dodge In the carriage Miss Nellie Prilay, of North Newport lay dying with a bullet hole in her left temple Charles Crowell jumped from the carriage, but dropped before he reached the door Crowell had a bullet hole in his right temple They were carried into Mr. Dodge's house and inside of twenty minutes They were both insensible when found and did not recover consciousness before death. Crowell lived at the school house in St Albans, his afternoon where Miss Prilay was teaching to take her to her home in North Newport to spend Thanksgiving He was seen driving through Main street, in Corinna about 4 30 P M He called at his home located about half way between Corinna and North Newport, and is supposed to have procured the revolver with which was committed The revolver owned by Crowell was found a short distance from Mr Dodge's place, three chambers being empty It is supposed that Crowell shot the girl and then shot himself. Crowell was twenty six years old and Miss Prilay . Crowell had been paying attention to Miss Prilay for nearly two years. No motive for the deed is assigned.

RAILROAD WAR.

The St Paul and Rock Island Roads at War

CHICAGO Nov 29 Mr. Merrill, of the St Paul Road, says he intends carrying the railroad war into Africa, and the other road shall have all they want. He says the demands of the Rock Island Road were unreasonable. The earnings of his road during the week, including the first three days of the war, only fell off $1,000. He now proposes to make such reduction in the time to St. Paul that the Rock Island Road cannot meet it, namely, to leave Chicago at 8 30 A. M and arrive in St Paul at 9 30 P M, reducing the running time six hours and obviating the use of sleeping cars It is expected other measures will follow on either side and the war will be hotter than ever CHICAGO, Nov 29 The following breezy note was received at the Associated Press office in answer to a query addressed to the Rock Island office.

If Mr Merrill's threat to run fast trains to St Paul is carried out, the Rock Island will make up to the passenger in fare the loss he sustains in time. Time is money and money in this case will be made to represent time.

(Signed) E ST. JOHN,
General Passenger Agent Rock Island Railroad.

From Another Source.

NEW YORK, Nov 29 A prominent holder of St Paul, who is connected with the management of the road, says his company will not consent to any compromise which will involve the abandonment of its policy, in extending its lines wherever such extension is demanded by the growth of the country

On the other hand a leading supporter of the Omaha road says President Porter will not go into any conference unless it is stipulated that the question of territorial rights be considered. It will be thus seen that there are no indications of a cessation of hostilities, except on the supposition, which is very widely entertained, that the cutting of rates means that the leaders have obtained all the stock they want It is fully stated on the sheet that the current speculation in grain is one of the chief features in the break in freight rates, with the purpose of inducing the farmers of the northwest to ship grain by giving them low rates, and in this way afford those who had sold for future delivery an opportunity to fulfill their contract.

THE LIFE-SAVING SERVICE.

Facts From the Annual Report of the General Superintendent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 The following is an abstract of the annual report of the General Superintendent of the Life-Saving Service:

The establishment embraced at the close of the fiscal year, 190 stations, 145 being on the Atlantic, 37 on the lakes, 7 on the Pacific and 1 at the Falls of the Ohio, Louisville, Ky.

The number of disasters to documented vessels within the field of station operations during the year was 297. There were 2 268 persons on board these vessels, of whom 2 256 were saved, and only 12 were lost. The number of the shipwrecked who required succor at the stations was 450, and to these 1 334 days' relief in the aggregate were afforded The estimated value of the vessels involved in these disasters was $3 265,830, and that of their cargoes $1,492 062, making the total value of property imperiled $4 757,892 Of this amount $3 099 537 was saved, and $1 658,355 lost The number of disasters involving the total destruction of vessels was 67. In addition to the foregoing, there have been 58 instances of disasters to small craft, as sail-boats, row boats, etc, on which were 128 persons, all of whom were saved. The property involved in the latter disasters was $7 870, of which $6 470 were saved and $1,400 lost. The results of all the disasters in the scope of the service aggregate therefore as follows.

Total number of disasters.	315
Total value of property involved	$4 765 ?62
Total value of property saved	3 1?6 0 7
Total value of property lost	1 659 755
Total number of persons involved	2 396
Total number of persons saved	2 384

There were 39 persons rescued in addition to those saved from vessels (they having fallen from wharves, piers, etc) who would certainly have been drowned but for the assistance rendered by life saving crews The investigations held in each case show that the twelve persons lost during the year were entirely beyond the reach of human aid Although there were 44 more disasters than during any previous year since the general extension of the service, the loss of life is smaller with one exception, than that of any year preceding The assistance rendered in saving vessels and cargoes has been very great this year, 293 vessels having been worked off, when stranded, piloted out of dangerous places, repaired when damaged, or assisted in similar ways by the station crews. There were, beside, 76 instances when vessels running into danger of stranding were warned off by the night signals of the patrols, and thus probably saving most of them from partial loss or destruction

The report records the fact that the Life Saving Service has now been in operation, under the present system, for a complete decade, and gives the results in the following table

Number of disasters.	1,?9?
Value of property involved	$29 276 249
Value of property saved	18 064 10?
Value of property lost	11 1? ?47
Number of persons involved	14 ?00
Number of persons saved.	14 ?3
Number of persons lost	407
Number of shipwrecked persons received at stations	3 0?0
Number of days succor afforded	? ?81

A tribute was paid to the late Lieutenant, Walton, who had been connected with the service almost from its foundation as an Assistant Inspector, and who died from a disease resulting from exposure while on duty Appropriate notice is also taken of the death of Mr Wm R Garrison, President of the Board on Life Saving Appliances, who was killed at the Parker's Creek railroad disaster near Long Branch The General Superintendent says that statistics show that since the general extension of the life-saving service to all portions of the coast in 1876 the loss of life from marine disasters has been reduced nearly 75 per cent that is to say, that while in 1876 and prior to that time, one person was lost out of every twenty-nine on board vessels suffering disaster, there has been a constant decrease, until now there is only one person lost out of every 113, and this result is shown to be almost entirely due to the agency of the Life Saving Stations The condition of the service is pronounced to be better than ever before The objects for which it was created, viz The rescue of life imperilled by shipwreck, the saving of marine property and incidentally, the protection of the revenue, have been greatly promoted by the recent legislation of Congress which was also done much for morale of the corps by providing ampler pay and affording recompense to those who may be injured in the line of duty, and relief to their widows and orphans in case of death An even better selection of men has been placed at the command of the service, and this selection, Mr. Kimball says, has been made, as it ever has been in this service solely upon grounds of professional fitness, to the absolute exclusion of political or other considerations

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

Report of the U S Treasurer

WASHINGTON, Nov 29 The report of the Treasurer of the United States for 1882 is ready for transmission to Congress In it he says the receipts of the Government show an increase over 1881, of $22-291 054 23 in customs, $11 231 209 94 from internal revenue, $2 651 277 20 from sales of public land, $6 707 416 34 from miscellaneous sources, making a total increase of $42 742 957 71

The total revenue was $403 525 250 The net expenditures decreased from $260,-712 887 59 to $257 981 440 20, a reduction of $2 731,447 39 The interest on the public debt shows a reduction of $11,431 534 31 The excess of revenues over expenditures was $145 543,810 08 and the amount applied to the reduction of the public debts $166,-281,505 55

The Murdered American.

LONDON, Nov 29 In reference to the Daily News' report that two Americans had been murdered on the west coast of Madagascar, it was learned that one was killed and one severely wounded. The name of the former was Emerson and of the latter Hulett The American Consular Agent at Mosandara states that although he had warned Emerson and Hulett against the country they intended to visit he had no reason to fear personal danger to them

FITZ JOHN PORTER'S CASE

SENATOR LOGAN REPLIES TO GENERAL GRANT'S MAGAZINE ARTICLE.

Senator Logan has prepared and the Chicago Tribune has printed a reply to General Grant's article on Fitz John Porter in the last number of the North American Review.

Senator Logan reviews the testimony in the Porter case at length Some of his personal allusions are interesting. He says

Would General Grant pretend to compare the march that Porter was required to make in the night time with the crossing of the Delaware when the stream was gorged with ice? He will see also that the night of the 29th of August, 1776, Washington withdrew from the front of the enemy and crossed from Long Island to New York over a broad river. General Grant well remembers the passing of Vicksburg on a dark foggy night, in small steamers, old and unsafe, under the rain of shot and shell, as if pouring down from the heavens. He will remember the march made the night before the battle of Thompson's Hill, where many troops were moved in the darkness of night. I myself marched my division from Hard Times Landing to Bruinsburg, a distance of eight miles in the night time, crossing the river in a boat at daylight; marched to the field of battle, and was on the field, a distance of twelve miles, by 12 o'clock that day General Grant will remember that General McPherson's Corps after marching the greater part of the day to the sound of General Sherman's guns at the battle of Jackson, moved that night at one o'clock, under orders from General Grant, marching twenty two miles over a muddy road, and by twelve the next day was formed in line of battle and confronting the enemy. These things, however, were done under orders from General Grant, whose orders were always obeyed

Suppose his officers had taken it upon themselves to determine the manner of obeying imperative commands, how long does any one suppose they would have kept their commands? And suppose General Grant's justification of the disobeyance of orders as he has stated it now in defence of Porter had been published by him (Grant) to his armies, and been so understood by his Generals, does any one suppose by such discipline he would ever have made the success he did and become the hero he is?

In conclusion Senator Logan says.

I now wish to call attention to another proposition of General Grant's, which is equally as astounding as anything in reference to Porter's conduct. Speaking of Porter he says that "Twenty years of the best part of his life have been consumed in trying to have his name and his reputation restored before his countrymen. In his application now before Congress he asks only that he may be restored to the rolls of the Army with the rank that he would have if the court martial had never been held," and General Grant advises that this application be favorably considered. This proposition would give him over $70,000 out of the Treasury of the United States for no act performed, for no duty done, for no service rendered, except the failure in performance of his duty on the 29th day of August, 1862 General Grant ought to know whether Porter was dismissed or not from the Army on what he considered "mistaken evidence." . . I know of no rule of law, no rule of justice, that would give this to General Porter, or to any other man dismissed from the Army This rule would establish a precedent that would pay money back to every man dismissed from the Army that might ever afterward be placed back again, whether dismissed at the beginning of the war for disloyalty or not, if they could get up testimony such as is wanted.

MRS LANGTRY'S IMPERSONATION OF JULIANA.

The Tribune says of Mrs. Langtry as Juliana: If thought were restricted to what Mrs. Langtry has actually accomplished in acting, there would be little or nothing to say about her. Discussion of the proceedings of this lady in the light of uncommon achievement in dramatic art would be unjust to the dramatic profession, to herself and to common sense. As yet, in a professional way, she has achieved but little. Several actresses might be named who can excel each of the performances that Mrs. Langtry has given. Miss Fanny Davenport is, or was, a better representative of Juliana, which part Mrs. Langtry assumed Monday night for the first time. Some novices not only do not act, but plainly denote that they can never act. Mrs. Langtry is very far from being one of these. She is a born actress, if ever such a thing existed. Her performances have shown that, beyond all reasonable doubt. Her acting of Juliana made this judgment a conviction. It was not strong in distinctive individuality, but the performance evinced a perfectly clear comprehension of the character, and the mechanicism of the performance was marked by a definite purpose, a central idea of self-willed perversity a delightful capriciousness of mood, and many felicities of expression, look and tone. It will be given hereafter, no doubt, in symmetry, in vividness, in exuberant richness and in repose; but as it now stands it is a good work, and the best, because the roundest, of Mrs. Langtry's impersonations.

At the recent dinner given by Queen Victoria at Balmoral in honor of General Wolseley, Her Majesty did him the honor of proposing his health at her own dinner table in kind and charmingly chosen words. Sir Garnet's return for the Queenly compliment was to couple with his thanks the proposal of the Duke of Connaught's health.

LOCAL MATTERS.

STATE OF MAINE.

BY THE GOVERNOR.

A PROCLAMATION.

In accordance with a good and ancient custom originating with our New England ancestors and hallowed by joyful rites and pious observance for more than two hundred and fifty years, I HARRIS M PLAISTED, Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Council, do hereby appoint and set apart

THURSDAY, November 30th, A. D, 1882

as a day of Public Thanksgiving and Praise to our God, the Giver of every good and perfect gift And I do recommend the good people of our favored State to gather around their hearths and altars and keep this glad New England festival in due and ancient form "Enter into His Gates with thanksgiving and into His Courts with praise," and "to do good and to distribute, forget not, for with such sacrifices God is well pleased" "If thou hast much, give plenteously, if thou hast little, do thy diligence gladly to give of that little for so gatherest thou thyself a good reward"

Given at the Council Chamber at Augusta, this fifteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty two and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventh HARRIS M PLAISTED

By the Governor
JOSEPH O SMITH, Secretary of State

Thanksgiving Day.

Sleighing will now be in order

The St John river has closed to navigation.

There were yesterday only about fifteen vessels in our port

Our merchants are making preparations for the holiday trade

Mr. Andrews will hold a matinee at Music Hall this afternoon, at 4 o'clock.

The discount of five per cent on city taxes will only be allowed up to and inclusive of Saturday.

A genuine tramp, claiming to hail from Chicago, put in an appearance at the station house last night.

Kimball, the Bangor pianist, will play at a Thanksgiving ball in Hancock Hall, Ellsworth, this evening.

All the saw mills on the river have been shut down The amount of lumber sawed this season is considerable larger than last year

An elementary class in dancing for ladies and gentlemen will be formed by Mr. Andrews at Music Hall on Friday evening.

Mr. Geo. D Stockwell has secured the mill of Henry Poor & Sons at Lowell and is putting in machinery for a clothespin factory.

Hon. D. M. Sabine, President of the Northwestern Manufacturing and Car Company, of Stillwater, Minn., is at the Bangor House.

Senator Hale and wife arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, took tea at the Bangor House, and left on the evening train for Washington

Stanley Pullen, Esq , of the Portland Press was at the Penobscot Exchange, Tuesday night, on his way to Piscataquis to spend Thanksgiving

Bangor Division, No. 14, Sons of Temperance, regular meeting this evening The entertainment will be appropriate to Thanksgiving evening.

The snow began falling late yesterday afternoon and during the night the storm continued until the ground was covered to a depth of several inches.

Yesterday boys were skating on the river above the dam and report the ice in good condition but we would advise our young friends to be extremely cautious.

The auction sale of Mr Kingsbury's paintings continued at Dakin's art store during yesterday afternoon and evening A large number of paintings were disposed of, but the prices ruled low.

Elizabeth C. Lunt, of Plymouth, was brought before trial justice Chas. A Arnold, Nov 11th, at Plymouth, on complaint of Jonathan J Hardy, on a charge of profanity, but was discharged.

In order that the compositors may indulge in the usual Thanksgiving turkey, and have ample time to recover from the effects of the same, no paper will be issued from this office to morrow morning.

The Maine Central train from Portland was late again last evening in arriving here. Persons who are accustomed to visit the post office evenings after the mail find this frequent delay very annoying.

The steamer Queen City has been hauled up at Bucksport. It was the intention to haul up on Stetson's marine railway, but it was covered with ice and it was found necessary to take the steamer elsewhere.

The annual convention of the Waldo County Educational Association will be held in the High School room, Belfast, on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 1st and 2d. Hon N. A Luce, State Superintendent of Schools, will be in attendance.

A THANKSGIVING. By invitation, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold a Thanksgiving prayer meeting at the house of Rev. Joseph Smith, No. 12 Fourth street, at three o'clock this afternoon. All friends of the cause will be welcome.

THE WEEKLY COURIER contains detailed reports of the meetings of the Penobscot Educational Association and the dedicatory services of the Bangor High School, with the usual amount of reading matter, etc. Copies in wrappers, ready for mailing, can be obtained at our counting room.

The "Youth" company arrived here about one o'clock yesterday afternoon from Portland, having come through from Waterville by special train. The company brought with them a vast array of scenery and properties. The company are stopping at the Bangor House and Penobscot Exchange.

The Ladies Sewing Circle connected with the Essex street F. B. church will hold their annual Fair and Supper in the Church vestry on the evening of December 14th. An album quilt of beautiful design, containing 800 names will be presented to that person receiving the largest number of votes.

The steamer Florence left at 11 o'clock, yesterday forenoon, for Sedgwick. She will return Thursday, coming to Bangor if the ice permits. She will leave Saturday for Bar Harbor, sailing from Bucksport if this harbor is closed by ice. Passengers will take the early train on the Eastern Maine Railway to connect with the steamer.

The Lincoln Pulp and Paper Manufacturing Company have made their first assessment of 15 per cent. on their capital stock. The company has about seventy-five men employed upon their various dams. The dams upon Long Pond and Folsom and Mattanawcook streams, above the bridge, will be completed by Saturday, the 2d of December.

Rev. Mr. Gerrish will occupy the Methodist pulpit in Bucksport on Sunday next in exchange with the pastor.

PERSONAL. Mr. Edmund L. Taney, for several years with the U. S. coast survey, has recently been promoted to a more lucrative and responsible position than he has previously held. This intelligence is gratifying to his Bangor friends. Mr. Taney will be located during the winter at Indian River, Florida.

THE HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING. The new High School building is now occupied by the schools. Tuesday the Grammar schools moved into their rooms on the first floor and yesterday the High School pupils established themselves in their new quarters. The scholars are warm in praise of the superior facilities offered by the new building.

LECTURE AT DOVER Our Dover correspondent writes "Rev Theodore Gerrish delivered a lecture in Central Hall, Dover, Tuesday evening, under the auspices of Douty Post, G. A. R. The subject was 'Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, the Wilderness and Spottsylvania Revisited,' and the lecture was one of the best ever delivered in this place."

We were much pleased yesterday to receive a pleasant call from our esteemed fellow citizen, Mr John S Kimball, who has since the early part of September last been suffering from a very large and painful carbuncle on the neck and has only within the past few days been able to leave the house. His many friends have been much gratified to see him on the street and wish him a speedy and permanent recovery.

A VETERAN STAGE DRIVER Mr. Harvey Ward, the veteran stage driver, of East Eddington, has eaten his Thanksgiving dinner in this city for the past thirty-three years. He will doubtless arrive here with his stage to-day and this will make the thirty fourth successive Thanksgiving that he has been in Bangor Few men have seen such long and continuous service in the stage business as Mr Ward PISCATAQUIS COUNTY ITEMS A correspondent writes The barn of John W Jones, of Parkman, was consumed by fire Wednesday night at about nine o'clock. Twenty five tons of hay, one horse, a cow and a hog were burned, also all of his farming tools, loss $600, insured for $250 in the Springfield Insurance Company.——Robinson Turner, proprietor of the Turner House, Guilford, is dangerously ill with a heart trouble He is some better but not out of danger.——The Guilford Woolen Mill Company have stopped making repellants and are now making ladies' sackings, all wool. Both mills are running on full time and their products are finding a ready sale, so that they have to send them by express as fast as they are made.——W. F. Abbott, of Brewer, has opened a dancing school in the new hall, Guilford, with quite a flattering patronage. He gives a Thanksgiving ball. ——Mr Alonzo Merrill, of Guilford, found his hog dead, Tuesday morning, in his trough and it is supposed that he died from eating paris green.——Good sleighing between Monson and Greenville.

THE TRANSIT OF VENUS. Regarding the coming transit of Venus on the 6th of December the following facts are given The time of the first contact will be 9 40 A M, nearly and of the final contact 4 02 P M, nearly If the weather be clear the form of the planet will be visible upon the sun's disk by the naked eye during that interval. Although a proper representation of the passage of the planet would correspond to a straight line drawn across the lower part of the sun's face this will not be its apparent motion, because of the movement of the earth in its diurnal revolution The apparent track of Venus will describe a loop on the sun's face and the planet will appear to leave the sun at about the same point where it entered upon it It will be but comparatively a small object, a spot or dot upon the great luminary measuring about one minute of arc. Its progress may be shown, also by a projected image in a darkened room. Although the previous transit was about 8 years ago, the next one will not occur till 235 years from that date. The principal object of observing the transit is as a means of determining the sun's distance from the earth. By accurately obtaining this, the distance of all other planets from the sun and from each other, can also be accurately ascertained, by calculation upon the basis of Kepler's laws.

AMUSEMENTS

Youth.

A large and magnificent audience was last evening given rare pleasure at the Opera House when "Youth" was presented in all its splendor, with the many brilliant scenic and realistic effects which have made it such a pronounced success in the principal cities. This great musical and spectacular production has scored a brilliant triumph in the last ten weeks at the Boston Theatre, and the company which appeared last evening is from this same theatre, where it is universally acknowledged this successful play has received its grandest interpretation. To say that our people were entertained and delighted is using mild language, and fails to voice the great satisfaction which found expression last evening in enthusiastic and long continued demonstrations of applause. There were tiresome waits and the seven acts detained the audience until a late hour, but the brilliancy of many features of the performance and the deep interest pervading it throughout far out-balanced any inconvenience resulting from being kept in the Opera House for three hours and a half. The prison scene was a very realistic and striking one. The two scenes, however, upon which "Youth" depends for its marvelous success are the embarkation on the troop ship for the Crimea war, and the battle in Khyber Pass. Our spacious stage admitted the presentation of these great spectacular displays to admirable advantage, stirring by the magnetism of the situations every member of the audience. As the great steamer steamed away with her decks thronged with the red-coated soldiers of England, the military band discoursing "Auld Lang Syne" the enthusiasm of the audience knew no bounds. The drill of the regiment was capital, and Co. G., of the 2nd Regiment, acquitted themselves with great credit. The attempted identification of Frank Darlington with the convict John Elliott, was well played. The fierce battle of Khyber Pass was given a spirited rendition and was received with immense demonstration. Throughout the evening the fortunes of Frank Darlington were followed with almost breathless attention. The cast was in the main very good. While not an ideal Frank, Mr. Vandenhoff acts the role very well. Mrs. Hunter made a graceful and effective Mrs. Walsingham, Miss Anderson a dignified and effective Mrs. Darlington, Miss Kingdon a dramatic Eve, and Miss Merron a prepossessing Alice. Messrs. Wilson, McGrath, Paul, Backus, Enders, Craven, Kent, Evans, and Miss Noah were good in their parts. The play was superbly mounted and choice music was furnished by the Boston Theatre Orchestra. "Youth" will be given at a matinee this afternoon and the closing representation will be given this evening. For the matinee the Opera House doors will be open at 1:30 P. M. and the curtain will rise at 2 30. The entertainment is one worth going a long distance to witness and no one should lose the opportunity to witness this great drama. "Youth" should be greeted, at both afternoon and evening entertainments, by immense gatherings

The French Lectures

The first in Mr. French's course of illustrated lectures will be given at the Opera House, to-morrow evening. There has been a large sale of course tickets, but good seats may yet be obtained. Single admission tickets will be sold at the box office to-morrow evening

Notes

E A. McDowell's company will present "The New Magdalen" at the Opera House next Thursday evening.

The dates for the Abbott Grand Opera Company are Dec 26th and 27th, with a matinee on the latter day.

KATAHDIN IRON COMPANY

Meeting of the Creditors—The Indebtedness Increasing—Proposition for Adjustment

Pursuant to announcement, a meeting of the creditors of the Katahdin Iron Company was held in this city, at the office of the company, yesterday afternoon. The attendance was large and it is understood about three-fourths of the indebtedness was represented Hon A P Gould, of Thomaston, President of the Company, and O W. Davis, Jr , Treasurer and General Manager, were both present The list of creditors embraces a large number of our business men. Representatives of the press were not admitted to the meeting

We are informed that the secured debts were reported $38,709 84, and unsecured debts, $135 036 14 The deficiency shown by the books of the company, November 1st, between gross assets and gross liabilities, is $64,308 33, which subsequent transactions will not materially modify, except unavoidable shrinkages in some of the assets, and those who have examined the books think the unsecured debts will now aggregate $150,000

After a somewhat protracted meeting it was unanimously voted to accept twelve cents on the dollar or to capitalize their indebtedness, to be left optional with each creditor. The expression was very unanimous regarding the ability and competency of General Manager Davis.

It is stated that the furnace will not stop and it is hoped the ultimate adjustment with creditors will put the enterprise on a sound and prosperous basis.

Police Court

Mrs. John O'Mara, for search and seizure, was yesterday fined $100 and costs. Appealed

William Smith, of Veazie, the rough who participated in the disturbance on the Maine Central train on Saturday last, was arraigned on the charge of drunkenness and fined $10 and costs. The charge of assault has not been tried as yet.

Thanksgiving Services.

Public services will be held to-day as below. The hour of meeting will be 10.30 A. M., except when otherwise stated.

At the First Parish church, a union service of the Congregational churches, discourse by Rev. C J. H. Ropes.

At the First Methodist church, a union service of the Methodist, Baptist and Free Baptist churches, discourse by Rev. T. Gerrish.

New Advertisements.

L. F. Forrest & Co. publish a Thanksgiving song.

Snow & Averill announce the arrival of Boston celery and table pears.

Fred T. Hall advertises goods cheap.

Charles York & Co. have Boston celery.

E. J. Davis & Co. have a new advertisement.

Of Dr. George W. Wieder, the Baltimore oculist who died some days ago in Denver, Col, it is related that he once treated in Europe a wealthy gentleman, with such success that the patient at once willed all his property to the doctor. Years afterward the man died, his own daughter was disinherited, and the fortune came to Dr. Wieder. The girl, left a pauper, wrote to Dr. Wiener, appealing for aid. He at once went to the consul of the country in which she lived (he was then in America), intending to transfer the fortune to her, but was told that the transfer could be legally effected only in that country. Thereupon he immediately took passage for Europe, and placed the entire fortune in her hands.

Mrs. Annie Louise Cary Raymond, seeing a newspaper announcement the other day to the effect that she was soon to reappear in concerts, said to a friend: "I shall never sing again before an audience; I have retired from the stage definitely." At the same time scarcely a day passes in which she does not receive letters asking her to sing—for the benefit of a young lady who wants to raise money to study for the opera in Italy; for a Sunday-school; and, worst of all, to go away out to Denver and sing for charity.

Hon. A. D. Lockwood has given gratuitously, without solicitation, his check for $200, to the Congregational Society, in Waterville, for the benefit of their new vestry.

HOW JEHIEL MADE $20.

AND HOW THE YOUNG VANDERBILTS BEAT THE RECORD.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press tells the following good story.—"Up in the White Mountains, a short time ago, I heard of the latest achievment of the Vanderbilts. A party of the third generation of this interesting family (reckoning from the Commodore) was stopping at the Glen House. The party included two daughters and two sons-in-law of the reigning Vanderbilt, and a cousin or two. From the Glen House the carriage road ascends in seven miles to the summit of Mt. Washington. Stages run up in about 3 hours, schedule time. The ascent is nowhere very steep, but it is steady and steep enough to make fairly hard pulling for the six-horse teams.

One day it occurred to the Vanderbilt party that noblesse obliged them to go up the mountain in quicker time than had ever been accomplished before this advent. They sent for Milliken. That affable person appeared, his tall hat on the back of his head, and heard the Vanderbilt commands.

"I can give you a special conveyance," said Milliken; "but I don't know about cutting much under three hours. It's an awful hard pull."

"But it must be done," said one of the sons-in-law. The other son-in-law took Milliken aside and warmly assured him that money was no consideration.

"Most people," persisted the eloquent proprietor of the Glen, "find three hours none too long. The gradually unfolding succession of panoramic views, the new vistas that reveal themselves at every turn, the magnificent range that opens up as you scale the outworks and climb the massive shoulder of Mount Washington itself, skirting the huge and gloomy Gulf of Mexico, with Clay on your right, and beyond that the massive Jefferson, then Adams, with its sharp and symmetrical peak, and finally Madison. In the distance the winding and lovely Androscoggin, like a thread of silver, to say nothing of—"

"No matter about all that," said the son-in-law. "We want your best team and your best driver, and if the thing can by any human possibility be done in two hours and a half, we want to do it."

"That would be a very quick ascent," said Milliken, cautiously. "Nevertheless, we'll see what can be done."

The result of the protracted negotiations was that Milliken gave the Vanderbilt party his lightest mountain wagon, seating twelve, his six famous grays, the best team in the Glen House stables, and Jehiel Cooper to handle the leathers. Jehiel has been driving on the mountain since 1861.

They started in the morning, just before the regular stage, amid great excitement on the Glen House piazzas. Everybody had his watch in hand when Jehiel cracked his whip over the ears of the off leader, and almost everybody was provided with field glasses or telescope to watch the progress of the vehicle after it should have emerged from the wooded belt on the mountain side. "We shall do it," shouted one of the sons-in-law to Milliken. Milliken removed his hat and merely remarked, "two hours and a half is mighty quick time."

"Now," said the sons-in-law to the driver, as the stage whirled past the toll-house, "do you suppose we shall do it?"

"Mebbe," replied Jehiel, with a yank at the jaw of the pole horses, who showed a disposition to caper. "The horses is in good fix."

"Make it in two hours and a half," returned the sons-in-law, "and it will be the best day's work you ever did."

The driver grinned and plied his lash. At the Half-way house all the watches were out. Jehiel pulled up to water the team in just one hour and thirteen minutes from the Glen. The excitement of the party increased. "An extra twenty dollar bill if we fetch it in 2.20!" shouted the son-in-law on the back seat. And a dollar extra for every minute under 2.20!" added the other son-in-law.

The stage spun up the mountain at a tremendous rate, verily whizzing around the sharp turns of the zigzag with a velocity that almost projected the representatives of $200,000,000 into the Gulf of Mexico. The progress of the party was now plainly visible to the interested spectators at the Glen House below. There was also suspense and excitement among the guests at the Summit, for Milliken had telegraphed up that the Vanderbilts were engaged in beating the record. The six gray horses drew up panting and steaming at the platform on the summit amid the cheers of the crowd. The sons-in-law sprang out and shook hands with each other and with the driver. The time-piece of one of them said two hours and four minutes, while the watch of the other made it 2.02. It was agreed to split the difference and fix the record at 2.03.

For nearly an hour the operator at the Summit House was kept busy sending enthusiastic messages from the Vanderbilts to their friends in the world below. The family prestige had been vindicated. Soon congratulatory replies began to pour in over the wire. The next morning every newspaper in New England contained the names of the Vanderbilts composing the party, and the fact that they had been driven up the mountain in the shortest time ever made on the carriage road.

Some days afterward I was discussing the achievement with another old mountain driver. "I hear Jehiel's going to retire from the business," he remarked with a broad grin. "He's made his pile. Jehiel's a -ly one."

"What do you mean?" I asked.

"I mean," said he, chuckling, "that when fools come along that are willing to pay greenbacks to see horses run up hill at a four-mile gait, Jehiel's generally ready to accommodate em."

"And you don't consider two hours and three minutes the fastest time on record?"

Here he indulged in an explosion of profane mirth. "Record!" said he. "Nobody said anything about the record except themselves. They were bound to have it so and who was going for to contradict a Vanderbilt?"

"And what is the fastest time?"

"Well," said the driver, "I druv those same six grays to the Summit week before last in an hour and twenty-nine minutes with a load of seven trunks and a crate of poultry for the Widow Dodge at the hotel. But I didn't git no fifty dollar bill for doin' it."

OUR COLLEGES.

DR HOWARD CROSBY CRITICISING THE ATTENTION PAID TO OUT-DOOR SPORTS

At a meeting of the Phi Beta Kappa Alumni in New York, an address on "The Errors of Our Collegiate Institutions" was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby. The speaker said that boys of different nationalities could not be treated alike in educational training. There was no use in trying to educate the American youth with German methods. The German course was very good for German youth, who could spend 15 years in school if need be. The American boy, however, was too nervous to be put to hard study at the age of 19, and at 20 he must be fighting in the field of labor. It was necessary, the speaker maintained, to condense as much real necessary knowledge as possible within the essentially brief period allotted to the American student. Dr. Crosby did not believe in sacrificing any branch of a practical English education to attempts to teach the classics or ornamental branches. He also objected to the custom in American colleges of permitting the students to select their own studies. A young American boy of 18 does not know enough to select the studies that will best fit him for the real contest in life.

In concluding his remarks the Doctor said: "The only other mistake common to our colleges to which I will now refer is the fostering of boat clubs and ball clubs. That young men should, in time of relaxation, go out on the green and have a good game of ball, or should go down to the river and have a row, is most natural and commendable, but that they should form clubs for training and spend months in the process and have grand public contests before thousands all over the country and attract the professional roughs, with their betting and drinking, to the grand show, in all of which study is neglected and must be neglected, is an abomination of the first order. It is a shame that college Presidents are actually promoting this demoralizing system. It would seem as if these worthies thought that colleges were instituted to collect a crowd of young bloods together, that they might have 'a high time.' No wonder that so many young men cannot go to college, because all this high living is so costly. If they refuse to pay the class taxes for all sorts of fooling, they are shoved aside as mean fellows, and this ostracism very few can bear. It costs a student at Yale or Harvard from $1,200 to $2,000 a year, if he is going to be in full rapport with his class. It becomes college Trustees to see that these expensive habits, so inimical to all true study, are prohibited, and that Professors and students give heed to the important work for which the college was created. I believe all of these errors in our college management arise from a servile aping of foreign colleges and universities, in which imitation we go (as all imitations are apt to do) far beyond our patterns, and utterly forget that our colleges are neither gymnasia on the one hand nor universities on the other, but schools sui generis, to be adapted to the peculiar conditions of our own country and the state of society here. What we want is a quadriennium of careful mental training in all the faculties of the mind coupled with an introduction into the principles and relations of the various departments of knowledge, all of which is to be prescribed by the instructors, and the studies diligently pursued without distraction from any external source, the student becoming so far master of the subjects studied that he can clearly state what he knows. In order to get back to this course of duty we must avoid following the guidance of two very worthless guides—the callow youth who are to be instructed, and the shallow newspapers who don't know the difference between a college and a circus."

SCROFULA

and all scrofulous diseases, Sores, Erysipelas, Eczema, Blotches, Ringworm, Tumors, Carbuncles, Boils, and Eruptions of the Skin, are the direct result of an impure state of the blood.

To cure these diseases the blood must be purified, and restored to a healthy and natural condition. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has for over forty years been recognized by eminent medical authorities as the most powerful blood purifier in existence. It frees the system from all foul humors, enriches and strengthens the blood, removes all traces of mercurial treatment, and proves itself a complete master of all scrofulous diseases.

A Recent Cure of Scrofulous Sores.

"Some months ago I was troubled with scrofulous sores (ulcers) on my legs. The limbs were badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy I tried failed, until I used AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, of which I have now taken three bottles, with the result that the sores are healed, and my general health greatly improved. I feel very grateful for the good your medicine has done me. Yours respectfully, MRS. ANN O'BRIAN."
148 Sullivan St., New York, June 24, 1882.

All persons interested are invited to call on Mrs. O'Brian, also upon the Rev. Z. P. Wilds of 78 East 54th Street, New York City, who will take pleasure in testifying to the wonderful efficacy of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, not only in the cure of this lady, but in his own case and many others within his knowledge.

The well known writer on the Boston Herald, B. W. BALL, of Rochester, N. H. writes, June 7, 1882:

"Having suffered severely for some years with Eczema, and having failed to find relief from other remedies, I have made use, during the past three months, of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, which has effected a complete cure. I consider it a magnificent remedy for all blood diseases."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

stimulates and regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, renews and strengthens the vital forces, and speedily cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, Catarrh, General Debility, and all diseases arising from an impoverished or corrupted condition of the blood, and a weakened vitality.

It is incomparably the cheapest blood medicine, on account of its concentrated strength, and great power over disease.

AYER'S Hair Vigor

restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always cured.

It checks falling of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the VIGOR is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and silky in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable and lasting perfume.

We have hundreds of similar testimonials to the efficacy of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It needs but a trial to convince the most skeptical of its value.

HEART DISEASE IS YOUR HEART SOUND?
Many people think themselves sick and doctor for kidney or liver troubles or dyspepsia, while if the truth were known the real cause is at the heart. The renowned Dr. Clendinning, startlingly says "one third of my subjects show signs of heart disease." The heart weighs about nine ounces and yet man's twenty eight pounds of blood passes through it once in a minute and a half, resting not day or night! Surely this subject should have careful attention. Dr. Graves a celebrated physician has prepared a specific for all heart troubles and kindred disorders. It is known as Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator and can be obtained at your druggists $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5 by express. Send stamp for Dr. Graves' thorough and exhaustive treatise. (1)

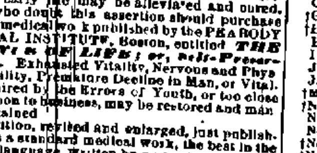
KNOWLEDGE IS POWER
READ!



KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or, Self-Preservation. Exhausted Vitality, Nervous and Physical Debility, Premature Decline in Man, or Vitality Impaired by the Errors of Youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

28th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jeweled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25, by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six pants. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION, is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION, is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $32.20 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.

DOMESTIC POSTAGE.

FIRST CLASS.

All Letters must be Prepaid.—Letters for the Mails in the United States, three cents the half ounce or single rate. City letters, two cents half ounce or single rate.

SECOND CLASS.

Newspapers.

All regular newspapers must be prepaid at the office of publication, at the rate of two cents per pound for each issue. The same law applies to dealers.

County papers free, except to letter carrier offices, & c. papers coming to this office, if published in County, are subject to postage. Daily papers published in County, if delivered by carrier, one cent each, to be prepaid by stamps.

Postage to Canada—Same as in the States on letters and papers, pre payment compulsory, merchandise limited to 8 oz., postage 10 cents.

THIRD CLASS.

Postage One Cent for Two Ounces.

Books (printed and blank), transient newspapers and periodicals, circulars, and other matter wholly in print, proof sheets and corrected proof sheets and manuscript copy accompanying the same, hand bills, posters, chromo lithographs, engravings, envelopes with printing thereon, heliotypes, lithographs, photographic and stereoscopic views with title written thereon, printed blanks and printed cards.

FOURTH CLASS.

Postage One Cent for each Ounce.

Blank cards, card board and other flexible material, flexible patterns, letter envelopes and letter paper without printing thereon, merchandise, models, ornamental paper, sample cards, samples of ores, metals, minerals, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions, drawings, plans, designs, ornamental paintings in oil or water colors and any other matter not included in first, second or third classes, and which is not in its form or nature liable to destroy, deface or otherwise damage the contents of the mail bag or harm the person of any one engaged in the postal service.

Upon matter of third or fourth class the sender may write his own name or address with the word "from," without extra charge for postage.

Third and fourth class matter may be registered same as first class, on payment of the register fee of 10 cents.

ADVERTISED LETTERS.

All letters remaining in the office are advertised on Monday of each week. If not claimed in ONE MONTH thereafter, they are then forwarded to the Dead Letter office.

MONEY ORDERS.

Especial attention is called to the Money Order system, as a safe and cheap method of transmitting small sums through the mails. Orders are issued in sums of not more than fifty dollars. Larger amounts can be transmitted to the same person, at the same time, by additional orders.

RATES.

On orders not exceeding $15,	10 cents
Over $15 and not exceeding $30,	15 cents
Over $30 and not exceeding $40,	20 cents
Over $40 and not exceeding $50,	25 cents

Money Orders can also be obtained on England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Switzerland and German States.

Never put Money in a Letter—Always Procure a Money Order.

If money is to be remitted, a Postal Money Order should be obtained. If upon points where there is no Money Order Office, then the letter should be Registered. Money should never be enclosed in an ordinary letter.

Office Hours—From 8 A. M. to 6 P. M.

REGISTRY DEPARTMENT.

All valuable letters should be Registered, unless a Money Order is obtained. Under the present system of Registration, letters are transmitted with perfect safety.

Letters may be registered by paying postage in full and a Registration fee in stamps, for—

United States,	10 cents
Great Britain and Ireland, and all Countries having a postal treaty with the United States,	10 cents

KIDNEY-WORT
FOR THE PERMANENT CURE OF CONSTIPATION.
No other disease is so prevalent in this country as Constipation, and no remedy has ever equalled the celebrated KIDNEY-WORT as a cure. Whatever the cause, however obstinate the case, this remedy will overcome it.
PILES. THIS distressing complaint is very apt to be complicated with constipation. Kidney-Wort strengthens the weakened parts and quickly cures all kinds of Piles even when physicians and medicines have before failed.
RHEUMATISM. For this it is a WONDERFUL CURE as it is for ALL the painful diseases of the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels.
It cleanses the system of the acrid poison that causes the dreadful suffering which only the victims of rheumatism can realize.
THOUSANDS OF CASES of the worst forms of this terrible disease have been quickly relieved, and in a short time
PERFECTLY CURED.
It cleanses, strengthens and gives New Life to all the important organs of the body. The natural action of the Kidneys is restored. The Liver is cleansed of all disease, and the Bowels move freely and healthfully.
It Acts at the same time on the KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS. $1. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS. Liquid or Dry. Dry can be sent by mail.
